BOY BANDIT INDICTED MURDER BANK CASHIER

New Albany Grand Jury Does Quick Work in Bank Robbery Murder Case.

By Associated Press.

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 13.—Thomas Hall, the "boy bandit" of Louisville, Ky., who shot and killed J. Gary Fawcett, cashier of the Merchants' National Bank here Thursday, was indicted for murder in the first degree by the grand jury today.

AUXILIARY HAS GOOD TIME.

Entertained Miss Aniel Rendall Yesterday Afternoon.

The Junior Auxiliary of the Episcopal Church was entertained yesterday afternoon by Miss Aniel Rendall, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Rendall, at their home on Washington street. Several selections on the piano were rendered beautifully by Misses Marie Starek, Isabel and Florence Pierce, Anita Musel and Aniel Rendall. Games of various kinds contributed to the entertainment of the youthful guests. A guessing contest on points on the map of the United States was the most interesting feature. Miss Isabel Pierce guessed the largest number of places and received a dainty Japanese tray as her reward. The one guessing the lowest number was consoled for her bad luck by a suitable souvenir also.

Cake and lemonade were served during the afternoon.

May Advance Furniture Prices.

Chicago, Nov. 13.—An advance of 10 per cent in the price of furniture to take effect at the opening of the spring season in January, is in prospect, according to members of the National Furniture Manufacturers' Association. The association is holding its annual convention here today, and all the leading furniture makers from Grand Rapids and other centers are represented.

More than two-thirds of the lands of Australia, or approximately 1,500,000,000 acres, are arid or semi-arid having an average annual rainfall of less than twenty inches.

WINS OR LOSES A PATIENT.

Little God of Love Is Responsible for Variations in the Income of a Dentist.

Cupid has more to do with making the dentist's income an uncertain and variable quantity than any other single influence. A dentist who from the girlhood of Gladys Vanderbilt yearly received fat fees for keeping her teeth in order remarked recently with regret at the loss of this source of revenue after she became Countess Szechenyi.

"A dentist never knows," he added, "when marriage is going to rob him of one of his most profitable patients. I am proud that it has been my experience that persons who have come to me to have their work done always come back again if their teeth need attention—until Cupid comes in to upset my calculations."

"Whenever I hear of one of my patients planning a wedding I know that I am going to lose a patient or win a new one. The bride and bridegroom almost invariably go to the same dentist. From my standpoint it's a case of lose one or win both."

The element of uncertainty that such a condition provides makes the poor dentist uneasy at times about the size of future incomes.—Philadelphia Evening Telegraph

LEMON HANDED TO THE LEMON GROWERS.

Freight Rates Increased on Sour Fruits by the Transcontinental Railroads.

New York, Nov. 13.—After next Monday, it is going to cost a lot more to hand your enemies a lemon. The transcontinental railroads, which have raised the freight rates on the sour fruit, is responsible for this condition of affairs. The new schedule became effective Monday and the Italian vendors are up in arms.

Under the present freight arrangement, rates on lemons from California points to Eastern points are fifteen cents a hundred pounds less than the rates on oranges and other citrus fruits. The present freight concession to lemons was made by the transcontinental carriers because of an alleged disposition on the part of the Pacific Coast fruit-growers to relinquish the lemon market, their argument being that they could not compete successfully with the European and West Indian growers at the rates then prevailing. The rates on lemons, therefore, was reduced to a point fifteen cents a hundred pounds lower than was charged for the transportation of other citrus fruits from the Pacific Coast.

The carriers now assert that the rate on lemons is too low, and the notice of advance has therefore been given.

New York commission men assert that the action of the roads may result in a great increase in the importation of lemons from Europe and the West Indies.

HURRICANE WROUGHT IMMENSE DAMAGE.

In Island of Hayti, Though No News of Serious Losses Are Received Yet.

By Associated Press.

Port Au Prince, Nov. 13.—The hurricane that swept over the island of Hayti wrought immense damage, the extent of which it is yet impossible to determine. Up to the present time, however, no news has been received here of any serious loss.

Cleopatra's Rats.

No less an authority than Professor Max Muller has come to the rescue of the girls who defend their inalienable right to "rats"—inalienable because the wearing of rats means, if not life itself, at least liberty and the pursuit of happiness. Professor Muller comes forward with learned historical research to prove that Cleopatra wore rats of immense size, declaring that history shows that the queen of the Nile bought many pounds of hair in the marts of Alexandria, eking out her own luxurious tresses with the entire natural stocks of three women. Professor Muller further contends that the Egyptian siren was one of the original peroxide blondes, but she varied the style by having her own hair bleached to conform to the color of the day's marketing. As it was a common practice for Egyptian beauties to peroxide their hair, the prevailing color is apparent.

For centuries Cleopatra has been held up as a paragon of pluckitude and certainly she is a formidable example and excuse to be invoked by modern devotees at the shrine of beauty. What can a hard-hearted superintendent or an obdurate floor-walker offer in extenuation of his edict against rats, when the naughty lady behind the counter points to the greatest beauty expert of history giving rats a prominent place on her dressing table?

EXPRESS ROBBERY AT HARLINGEN

SAFE SAID TO HAVE BEEN LOOT-ED OF $3,800.

Express Agent Placed Cash In Safe Thursday, Expecting to Ship It Next Day—Robbers Did Job Artistically and Left No Clue.

Sometime during Thursday the safe of the express office at the depot at Harlingen was robbed, a package said to have contained cash amounting to $3,800 being stolen from it. The express agent there will give out no further information than that a package is missing from the safe.

The facts as obtained by the Herald reporter are, in effect, that the agent, — Jones, late Thursday afternoon cashed a draft at the Harlingen bank for $3,000, taking the money to the station office and depositing it in the safe, with the intention of shipping it to the Houston office on the early train yesterday morning. Mr. Jones did not leave the station Thursday night until between ten thirty and eleven o'clock.

Early yesterday morning Mr. Jones opened the safe with the expectation of getting the money he had placed there the night before, to ship on the up-train, but to his consternation he discovered that the money was gone. There was nothing about the office to indicate that entrance had been effected by force, nor had the safe been tampered with in any way, the thief or thieves evidently having succeeded in opening the safe by working the combination.

Mr. Jones at once notified the express officials and two representatives of the company arrived in Harlingen last night to endeavor to apprehend the guilty parties.

The robbers chose the most opportune time as on Thursday night there was not an officer of the law in Harlingen. Capt. Tom Johnson of the rangers and two of his force "Buster" Jones and Sergt. Billy McCauley and Judge Pat Haley were all in Brownsville, attending District court, and Constable Ryan was in the country on other business. Rangers Karnes and Whitley, who are stationed at Rio Grande City were ordered to go at once to Harlingen to investigate the matter and arrived there last night. They were joined this morning by Rangers McCauley and Jones. Very scant details of the robbery have been made known but as yet there is not the slightest clue as to the guilty parties.

KING VICTOR EMMANUEL CELEBRATES HIS BIRTHDAY.

Unfortunately Falls on Same Day Observed By Anarchists as Anniversary of Chicago Execution.

This year the birthdays of King Edward and Victor Emmanuel, of Italy, come in the same week. Edward's birthday was celebrated Tuesday, while that of the Italian monarch is today. Victor Emmanuel was born November 11, 1869, so that he is now forty years of age.

While the king will be the recipient of many congratulations, the popular demonstration in his honor will doubtless be overshadowed by the demonstration arranged for today by the Anarchists of Rome. It is the custom of the agitators to demonstrate every year on November 11, the anniversary of the execution of the Chicago Anarchists in 1887, and the recent legal assassination of Senor Ferrer in Spain has added fuel to the Anarchist fire. Reports from Rome state that the authorities have taken every precaution to prevent trouble, but fears are entertained for the safety of the Vatican and its distinguished occupant. The authorities have warned the troublesome element that any attempt to hold parades will be put down by force. For their own safety, all the priests of Rome have been warned to stay indoors today.

St. Martin's Day was observed in England in the customary manner today, and the official weather forecaster had to take a back seat. The least superstitious of Englishmen still entertain a sneaking belief in the ancient "poem":

If November eleventh is cold and clear,
Then the winter will be severe;
But if that day be stormy, child,
The next four months will all be mild.

So runs the old saw in which is embodied the popular superstition of St. Martin's influence over the weather. Elected to the See of Tours in 374, St. Martin converted his whole diocese from paganism to Christianity. He died November 11, 397, and, in accordance with old church custom, his day is celebrated by ritualistic churches the world over on the anniversary of his death.
